

Dr. A. S. Prasada Reddy, Professor-Innovation Strategies, Centre for Organization Development, who was formerly Professor at the Lund University, Sweden, and Senior Economist, United Nations, Geneva, Switzerland. He has a number of books and articles published internationally. He is an internationally acclaimed expert in the field and has conducted several training programs for the government officials around the world on behalf of the international development agencies, including the United Nations, European Union, Swedish and International Development Agency and Canadian International Development Research Center.

-----**-----